Yanks Take Montebourg

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 13 (AP)—Fighting men of the U. S. Fourth Division hammering toward Cherbourg captured Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of the prize port, after a fierce battle, headquarters announced today.

Montebourg was topped even as other U. S. forces plunged several miles beyond Carentan in a drive to chop off the tip of Cherbourg peninsula at the shortest point. By Berlin account, they were fighting toward airborne Allied forces already landed on the western shores in a pincers move.

Communique No. 15

By the Associated Press
After two days of hard fighting, American troops have liberated Carentan, possession of which materially strengthens the link established between our two major beachheads.

In the Tilly sector, strong enemy resistance continues.

Steady progress has been made in other areas although there have been no marked advances.

The buildup is progressing satisfactorily.

Railway targets and enemy troops and vehicles were the main objectives of our aircraft which struck again in great strength throughout the afternoon and evening yesterday.

Attacks were made by medium and fighter bombers at various points on the railway system behind the enemy lines. The railway bridge over the Seine at Mantes-Gassicourt was attacked.

Trucks radiating from Nogent le Rotrou and Le Mans were cut at several places and oil tanks, cars and goods wagons were destroyed.

Other targets included troops and motor transport in the battle zone, radio installations and gun positions.

A tank concentration in the Forest de Grimbois, southwest of Caen, was heavily bombed.

In the course of this attack an ammunition dump blew up.

Fighters patrolled the beach areas and the channel.

Other fighters destroyed a number of enemy aircraft on the ground.

Last night heavy bombers in great strength attacked the railway centers of Amiens, Arras, Cambrai and Poitiers and bridges at Caen.

Twenty-three of these aircraft are missing.

Medium and fighter bombers bombed ferry installations over the Seine at Caudebec, the rail center at Meudon and other rail and road targets in the same area during the night.

Four of these aircraft are missing.

Our night fighters destroyed nine enemy aircraft over the beachhead and the battle zone.

Six U. S. divisions now have been identified as fighting with the powerful invasion armies—with perhaps 600,000 men engaged on both sides—and supreme headquarters reported progress all along the battle front now lengthened to 80 miles.

Another force driving across the peninsula between Montebourg and Carentan captured Ponté Abbe, 3½ miles west of the railroad running near Ste. Mere Eglise.

DRIVE ON ST. LO

Berlin declared Allied forces were driving on the central Normandy road hub of St. Lo, and placed Americans within seven miles of the town.

A front dispatch said the U. S. Second division has struck past Cerisy forest to the northeast of St. Lo, making the deepest inland penetration of 18 miles.

The Fourth division was spearheading the attack below Cherbourg in the area previously entered by the 82d and 101st American airborne.

The American 1st and 29th divisions also are fighting in France.

On the eastern flank, supreme headquarters said Tilly-sur-Seulles west of Caen had changed hands several times. Berlin reported particularly heavy fighting in this sector, and said a wedge had been driven into Nazi lines east of the Orne river.

HASTY GERMAN RETREAT

The 2d Division men, bursting into the center of the sagging Nazi line, "still are pushing forward" past Cerisy forest, and captured a huge ammunition dump near the woodlands, a front dispatch said.

The Germans were falling back so rapidly they did not even have time for demolitions and placing mines, it added.

Maintaining thunderous aerial support, several hundred Flying Fortresses hammered Nazi airfields in France today, and other planes hit battlefield positions. Rain lowered visibility in the English channel—the Allies' supply line—and the sea was choppy.

One Berlin broadcast said the signal "for starting the obviously impending battle for Caen has not yet been given on either side, but that both the Allies and Germans were bringing up 'special units.' The town of 61,000 population is the eastern bastion of the Germans' Normandy line.

Supreme headquarters in its 15th communique said small Allied

Reds Push 5th Breaks On Viipuri Nazi Stand

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, June 13 (AP)—Backed by the terrific gun fire provided by Col. Gen. Govorov, an artillery specialist, Red mobile units moved steadily over roads and forest defiles deeper into the Karelian isthmus today, reaching points beyond captured Raivola, 36 miles from Viipuri.

A front dispatch to Izvestia reported surrender of many Finns who appeared dazed by the offensive. Raivola, like Terijoki, was not burned. The Finns did not have time to apply the torch.

So rapid was the advance that Raivola fell in 40 minutes. But the Finns were reported hurrying many reserves to the isthmus and hard fighting appeared in store for Soviet units just now reaching the hard core of resistance.

(Reports from London said the belief existed there that Finland would be knocked out of the war by the end of this month.

A Finnish communique broadcast by Berlin said the Finns had repelled all attacks against their Karelian defenses, and that 63 Soviet tanks were destroyed in three days.

(Helsinki dispatches reaching Stockholm declared rainy weather had set in on the Karelian isthmus, benefiting Finnish troops in the process of "stabilizing the front.")

Beyond Raivola the Russians made good progress down the

The Russians were blasting their way through deep lines of fortifications, one of the most striking of which was a series of German self-propelled "Ferdinand" guns dug into the earth.

Long, white nights have descended on the Finnish front. There are hardly any dark hours. But fighting is incessant in the deep, black woods.

ROME, June 13 (AP)—The Germans north of Rome fought bitterly today along a new line of defenses from Lake Bolsena to the sea, but Fifth Army troops smashed through, occupied nearly all the western shore of the lake and all but wiped out a strong point east of Orbetello, 71 miles northwest of Rome.

Moving up both sides of Lake Bolsena, Allied forces on the western shore captured Valentano, junction of three highways some 35 miles north of Rome, and pushed on, nearing Latera, four miles further north.

Northwest of the lake, South African forces moving toward Orbetello ran into a stiff battle in Bagno Regio.

On the Tyrrhenian coast American doughboys encountered a new series of dug-in defenses east of Orbetello and attacked through high ground directly toward Lateral Highway 74, which is about 30 road miles from Rome at that point. In a sharp and bloody engagement they captured 142 prisoners from the German 162d Turcoman Division and killed 100 more of the enemy.

The advance was considerably more rapid on the Adriatic sector, where Eighth Army troops crossed the Saline river, some five miles north of captured Pescara, at several places.

These Allied forces took Popoli, on the Rome-Pescara road 10 miles north of Sulmona, where the advance had halted only long enough to take 20 prisoners.

South of Terni, in the center of the advance line, the enemy continued to put up a fight but some progress was made there, also.

The Eighth Army forces in the Tiber valley advanced to the southwest of Carsoli, reaching high ground across Highway 5 and taking a number of villages.

Rommel Kicked Out Of Wall Command?

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Leslie Randall, in a dispatch from 21st Army group headquarters published in the Evening Standard today, said "it is now believed Rommel is out."

"No definite news of him has reached this headquarters since the invasion began, but all pointers are he is not in command," Randall said.

STATE GUARD LIEUT. WILLIAM RUSSELL CHECKS MAP WITH HIS MEN Before Starting Search of Scituate Area for Missing McGrath Girl

Search for 10-year-old Frances McGrath, who vanished mysteriously after leaving a Scituate Harbor bowling alley Saturday night, took a surprising new turn today when a group of 'teen aged boys and girls reported that on the same night they were followed through the town streets by a stranger.

Roxbury Fire Probe Begins

Officials today probed an explosion and five-alarm blaze which raged for many hours in the Roxbury plant of the National Chair Co., causing the death of a watchman and injury to eight other persons.

Fire Chief Samuel J. Pope gave a damage estimate of $1,500,000 after inspecting stock and machinery that became molten lumps of metal under the white-hot fury of the flames.

The watchman, still unidentified, died en route to City Hospital after being freed and taken to the street by Walter J. Ford, 32, of Telegraph st., South Boston, who was passing when the first explosion occurred. Ford also was taken to city hospital and is in serious condition from burns on the face, arms and body.

Most seriously injured was Lieut. Martin Kenealey, 43, of Engine 31, who suffered a neck injury when he fell 25 feet through a floor into the cellar. Landing in water over his head, he was pulled from the building by his mates.

At City Hospital he was found to be suffering from first and second degree burns of the hands and face.

Others who suffered burns and cuts were: Francis Connors, of Rescue Co. 5; James Sullivan of Ladder 26, Henry M. Wheeler of Engine 31, Joseph Madden of Engine 31, John Pepe of Ladder 5 and Robert Mahoney, an auxiliary fireman.

to divert all calls for the McGraths to the police station. There the messages are typed and delivered by car.

"If only some word would come," said the mother. "I am afraid I'm on the brink of breaking. John has been brave and the children keep telling me Frances will be found, but I can't stand the strain much longer."

"Perhaps if they do not find her by tonight we all will go home to Richview st., Dorchester. Just think, she has been gone three days."

Mrs. McGrath was asked if she knew of any childless woman so fond of Frances she might have taken her away, as women have in many cases elsewhere.

"No," she said. "And although Frances was friendly with many people she was not overly attached to anyone outside of the family. She was just a happy, normal child."

A report that Frances' hat and little coat had been found, part of the new outfit she wore so proudly when she left for church Saturday night, gained rapid circulation in Scituate today.

"It's not true, so far as I know," said the mother. "Nothing has been brought to me for identification."

One of the little McGraths came in with black coffee. The child's face bore a "Take courage" message. Mrs. McGrath's eyes filled but she smiled an answer through the tears.

Speedy Approval of GI Bill Expected in House

By FRANK REILLY
Record-American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The GI Bill of Rights, providing justice and a future for the veterans of World War II, came up in the House today with every assurance that passage would be as speedy as it was in the Senate.

A husky at 16 months, Dickran Stepanian of Grove st., Belmont, makes a good camera subject as he poses for this picture which is being sent to his dad in Africa by the Record-American. Baby's dad is T/Sergt. Steveran D. Stepanian, 10-year Army vet who has never seen his son.

The latter body approved the compromise legislation after but 27 minutes of discussion and the way has been paved for the House approval without even debate, through an agreement between Reps. John Rankin of Missouri and John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, the majority leader.

There wasn't even a record vote in the Senate, after Senate conferees broke a committee deadlock by giving ground to House members.

Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, member of the Senate group of conferees, presented the measure and moved for its prompt consideration and acceptance. He said Sen. Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, chairman of the Senate conferees, had found it necessary to return to his home over the week-end, and that the Georgia senator was substituting for him.

GEORGE STATEMENT

Pointing out that senators were already familiar with the terms of the bill as finally agreed upon in conference, Sen. George said:

"I should say in justice to the Senate conferees that the last section in the bill was agreed upon and accepted most reluctantly by the Senate conferees. It was regarded as unwise by members of the Senate committee in the conference. At the same time we finally accepted it in order that we might have a bill this session."

The provision in question was one on which the House conferees insisted, and provides that if a veteran receives unemployment compensation or money for education it shall be deducted from any future bonus which may be awarded. Despite Sen. George's statement, many members of the Senate felt that this provision was only fair to the bulk of the veterans.

DIFFICULT SITUATION

Sen. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin then took the floor as another member of the conference committee, and said, "The comprehensive character of the bills which passed the two houses of Congress presented a difficult situation when efforts were made to iron out differences between the two versions. He said:

"There is a vital necessity for securing such a bill now. Public opinion demands it. It was necessary that we reach immediate agreement."

Sen. LaFollette then explained that it was necessary for the Senate to act first on the compromise bill because the Senate had asked for the conference. He concluded with a plea for immediate acceptance, saying, "Rejection of this compromise report will result in no bill this session."

Probation for 2 Banker Brothers

Arthur E. and Louis Blanchard of Orchard st., Southbridge, brothers and former directors of the People's National Bank of that town, were placed on probation for one year in federal court today after pleading nolo to indictments charging misapplication of funds of the bank of approximately $12,000.

U. S. Atty. Hardegon told the court at the time the men were indicted it was later learned the then president of the bank, Henry J. Steinberg of Worcester, was the real offender in the case.

It was alleged Steinberg arranged for the erection and development of a theater and for a tract of land in Worcester.

The brothers, Arthur E. who is 59 and Louis, 68, are said to have mortgaged their property to the extent of $150,000 in order to reimburse the bank.

Steinberg died a short time after indictments were returned.

Hearst Papers Praised For Support of GI Bill

The Boston City Council, at its regular meeting, passed unanimously the following resolution offered by Councilor Matthew F. Hanley of Jamaica Plain and James S. Coffey of East Boston.

"Resolved—that the Boston City Council record its deepest and most profound congratulations to all the organizations and individuals, particularly the Hearst newspapers, who aided and abetted the passage of the GI Bill of Rights—a bill designed to ameliorate many problems confronting the demobilization of our armed forces and their return and rehabilitation to civilian life.

"This highly meritorious bill includes unemployment compensation, educational benefits and a loan for the purchasing and the erection of dwellings with an amortization fund established and payable to the U. S. government."

Yanks Speed Drive To Free Philippines

By the Associated Press

American sea, air and ground fighters are tirelessly hacking away at Japanese fortresses barring the way to rescue of the Philippines and hard-beset China. Allied reports showed today.

Nimitz-MacArthur airmen, flying from land and carriers, continued their assaults on islands stretching from Palu into the Marianas group flanking the Philippines on the east.

Adm. Nimitz reported the second straight day of attacks on Guam, Tinian, Saipan and other Marianas islands. The details were hidden in radio silence.

Gen. MacArthur's airmen struck at Palau—520 miles from the Philippines—and Truk for the second straight day.

MacArthur's forces also expanded their Biak island holdings against stubborn enemy resistance and, to their rear, maintained attacks against Japanese trapped on islands stretching for 1500 miles from Bougainville to Dutch New Guinea. Casualties in Dutch New Guinea, MacArthur announced, have accounted for 6705 Japanese in recent weeks. Bombers kept up their daily attack on Rabaul in New Britain.

In India Allied forces chased the enemy back near the Burma border and claimed victory in the battle for Kohima and were nearer full seizure of Myitkyina in northern Burma.

Chinese troops fought to hold off a three-sided Japanese drive to capture Changsha, control point on the vital Hankow-Canton railway of South-Central China.

Liberators of the 14th U. S. Air force sank a 16,000-ton Japanese freighter and damaged a cruiser off the southeast China coast Sunday, Chungking announced.

WITH AMERICAN FORCES NEAR CERISY FOREST, June 12 (delayed) (AP)—The Germans pulled back so rapidly through the Cerisy forest area before the advance U. S. Second Division, they had no time for demolitions and, in contrast to Nazi withdrawals in Africa and Italy, the enemy left few mines behind.

(This was the first disclosure the American Second Division was fighting in France.)

The Second Division men showed up exceptionally well. They were trigger-happy and nervous at the first shooting and at the slightest movement ahead of them, but after the first half day of hearing guns, seeing shells explode and hearing bullets whiz by, they settled down.

The division had its shakedown battle in capturing Trevieres, four and one-half miles from the coast. The Germans had turned the town into a strong point. In bitter fighting the Americans left it a shambles of bullet-torn shell-pocked buildings.

After capturing the town the second division drove on through the Cerisy forest, wiping out pockets of German snipers.

I have just made a tour of the central beachhead and what I saw left me with the belief the Germans have lost their chance to push us back into the sea. They lost that chance during the first three days. Now our armies have landed in such strength the perilous period has passed.

The swiftness with which American troops, guns and supplies were put ashore despite many handicaps is reassuring for the future.

'I-Know You Killed That Child', Chief Testifies He Told Noxon

By PAULINE WARREN

PITTSFIELD, June 13—"I told him: 'I know you killed that child,'" Chief of Police John L. Sullivan testified today while John F. Noxon, noted Berkshire corporation lawyer, listened in the prisoner's cage at his trial on charges he electrocuted his defective infant.

U. S. Ships Aid Canada Frigate Sink U-Boat

OTTAWA, June 13 (AP)—A United States destroyer and destroyer escort and a Grumman Avenger plane from an American aircraft carrier assisted the Canadian frigate Prince Rupert in destroying a Nazi U-boat in a recent mid-Atlantic action, Canadian Navy Minister Angus MacDonald announced today.

Sent to the bottom by a barrage from the guns of the new frigate, the U-boat was the fourth victim of the Canadian Navy in the past 10 weeks. Fourteen of the German crew were taken prisoner.

Daily menus and recipes by Martha Lee a regular feature in the Boston American.

Chief Sullivan related his second conversation with Noxon at the latter's home just 24 hours after the death of the Noxon baby. Ex-Governor Ely, counsel for Noxon, expostulated to Chief Sullivan at that point:

"You said that to the defendant."

"Yes, I did," reiterated the chief. "What did the defendant answer to that?" asked Dist. Atty. Alberti.

DIDN'T ANSWER

"He didn't answer," said the chief. "He didn't confirm it or deny it."

The chief also brought out in his testimony he had heard of Noxon's famed discussion of electricity before the electrocution with a bank president through a third party and not through Noxon as the defense maintains.

"I had questioned him in the morning, after the death of the child, said the chief, "and when I found out about this I went back to his house and said:

"John, this morning you told me you didn't know anything about electricity. Now I find that you have been trying an important case, involving electricity and that you have had the advice of experts. What have you got to say to that?"

"I don't know much about it. It's all about condensers," he replied.

EXPLAINS BLACK EYE

"What about that conversation you had with Whittlesey the bank president? Where did that take place?"

"In the trustees room of the trust company. There were five or six other men present," answered Noxon, according to Chief Sullivan.

Whittlesey, who has already testified, claims the discussion of household electrical accidents took place in an office downstairs and there was no one else present.

"What about the baby's black eye?" I asked him," continued the chief. "We've been to the Wellington Funeral Home and seen the baby. He has a black eye and a severe third-degree burn on his arm. What about that burn? It looks as if there had been a clamp on it. How about that?"

"He replied the black eye had taken place a week before when the baby hurt himself on his crib and that he didn't see the burn on the baby's arm. I said, 'What about the burns on the other arm?' What have you to say about these?" John answered he had not noticed those either."

Beautiful Wife, $1500 Missing

After seven days of fruitless search, Christopher Lazarus, 23, of Stewart st., Lynn, today called on Lynn police to aid him in the hunt for his beautiful wife, Annie, blonde, 21-year-old beauty contest winner.

The weary husband told police his wife vanished a week ago and that $1500 of money they had mutually earned also was missing.

Record Pace In Bond Drive

Off to a faster start than any previous bond drive in this area, Greater Boston today entered the second day of the Fifth War Loan campaign to attain its metropolitan quota of $65,600,000 in the popular Series E war savings bonds.

The Boston beachhead in the war loan drive was established through the medium of an all-service show at Boston Garden where 14,000 persons purchased more than $3,000,000 worth of bonds in return for admission.

Earlier, more than $1,000,000 was raised on Boston Common and at the Copley Plaza Hotel where enthusiastic buyers, spurred by news from the invasion front, bought bonds in wholesale lots in an effort to beat down the state E bond quota of $112,000,000.

STAR TELLS OF WOUNDED

Mrs. Mark Clark, wife of the general in command of the Fifth Army in Italy, and Veronica Lake, film star, were featured speakers at the hotel rally and at the public auction on the common. Miss Lake also appeared at the Garden show, "Direct Hit."

It was blonde Veronica, tears streaming down her lovely face, who provided a tremendous emotional climax to the Garden show as she told of wounded soldiers she had visited in hospitals throughout the country, and entreated her listeners to put every available dollar into War Bonds so that they "will not have sacrificed in vain."

Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin and Sergt. Gene Autry, cowboy film star, also made stirring pleas for 100 per cent effort in the drive.

SHOW LOADED WITH STARS

The Garden rocked with applause for the service show, which was loaded with former stars of stage, screen and radio now in the service. Lieut. Commander Jack Dempsey, U. S. Coast Guard, former world's heavyweight champion, entertained with an amusing boxing skit.

Feature of the auction on the Common was the "auctioning off" of Mayor Tobin, his wife and Miss Lake, together with other celebrities and a famous book.

A bid of $100,000 worth of bonds by Thomas Pappas, vice-chairman of the National Greek Relief Committee procured him the services of the Tobins and Veronica as "maid, cook and dishwasher."

As their part of the bargain, the Tobins will prepare and serve a good old-fashioned New England boiled dinner for Pappas at the Tobins' Jamaica Plain home today, and Veronica will wash the dishes.

Among first-day bond sales reported was a $100,000 purchase made for Eastern Air Lines by Miss Gertrude M. Roche, city manager.

8 Flee Devens Guard House

FORT DEVENS, June 13—Eight prisoners, all privates, escaped from the post guardhouse today by saving their way through a window, military authorities announced.

It was the largest man-break ever at this post.

Three of the prisoners were awaiting court-martial. The others were short term prisoners. A distinctive "P" is plainly marked on their jacket and trousers.

State and local police are aiding the military police in an attempt to round up the men, believed to have concealed themselves in nearby woods.

They were identified as Daniel Landre, Rockport, Me.; Daniel H. Kelly, Tolland; Donald H. Guard, Worcester; William J. Moore, Rutland; Reed A. Mitchell, Gloucester; George O. Souther, Newburyport; Kenneth Brown, address not given. One man was not identified.

4 Nazi Ships Sabotaged

STOCKHOLM, June 13 (AP)—The Free Danish Press Service reported today that four German minesweepers were sunk yesterday by saboteurs in the Svendborg harbor, at Fyen Island, Denmark.

short distance behind us. He ducked into an alley.

"A little while later he passed by us again, apparently trying to attract our attention. We kept on walking until we got to Pinkham's drug store near the howling alley where Frances was last seen.

"After a few minutes outside the howling alley we decided to walk back to the postoffice again. Once more this man started to follow us. Finally I got burned up, so I went up to him and said:

UPPER LIP TWITCHED

"You're following us. If you do it any more I'll knock your block off!"

"He muttered some reply, but I couldn't understand it. I noticed his upper lip twitched when he spoke. I think what he might have said was: 'Why bother?'

"The man had a strange look in his face. He acted queer. After I spoke to him I went back to the boys and girls. That was the last we saw of him."

Chief Stewart and State Detective Lieutenants James P. Coniff and William Delay immediately checked with correction officials to learn if any convict answering the stranger's description had recently been released.

They learned that the stranger arrived in Scituate last Thursday night and that he had frequented saloons.

He made no effort to strike up acquaintances in the town, but on two occasions alone he bought drinks for all in the house, police learned.

Investigators prepared to question all newly arrived summer visitors to learn if the man was employed in any summer homes in the vicinity.

While detectives were pursuing this line of investigation on the theory that the girl had been abducted, Motor Vehicle Inspector Hugh Strain, probing the possibility that Frances was the victim of a hit-run driver, disclosed that two pieces of a broken headlight had been found along the causeway which the child would have walked had she taken her usual route home from downtown.

A piece of lens and a part of the light rim were found by a passerby. Strain said they apparently were from a small pleasure car.

News that a stranger had been trailing youngsters in the town came early today as weary searchers ended a night combing the woods and marshes under glaring floodlights for the girl, whose anguished parents are torn between fear that she is dead and hope that she soon may be found.

The hunt for the mysterious stranger got under way shortly after two other suspects, after lengthy questioning, finally established satisfactory alibis.

Today, State Guardsmen resumed dragging operations in Old Oaken Bucket pond, a half mile square body of water, located 2 1/2 miles from Scituate in the Greenbush sector, between Route 3-A and the main highway. Coast Guardsmen, meanwhile, were dragging the swift channel waters of Scituate harbor, as police, Army troops, Boy and Girl Scouts continued their systematic hunt for the girl through the marshes near the Edward Foster causeway.

The girl, blue-eyed, freckle-faced, is the daughter of former City Councilor John McGrath. To his cottage on Peggy's road, toward which the girl was walking when she was lost, kidnapped or drowned, according to various theories held, hundreds went throughout yesterday to offer him sympathy and aid.

Mayor Tobin made an appeal in behalf of the parents which caused 50 employees of the Boston Public Works and other city departments to volunteer their efforts.

In the other groups were 53 regular Army men under Maj. George Thorp and Lieut. William A. Keith who searched along Parish rd., from the Norwell line to Scituate harbor; Troop A, Second Motor Squadron, State Guard, under Lieut. Norman L. Hussey who covered the Beaver Dam rd. from Cohasset to the harbor, and 25 men of the 17th Co., 26th Inf. State Guard, under Lieut. William E. Russell.

500 JOIN HUNT

In addition there were 75 Coast Guard temporary reserves from Hingham, local and State Police and civilians; altogether, it is estimated, over 500 searchers.

Two FBI men were ordered into the case by Edward Soucy, chief agent of the bureau in Boston. Mrs. McGrath was pale and shaking when she entered the police station to talk to the federal men. Afterwards at her home she was in a state of near collapse.

Neither she nor her husband made any secret of their fear that the girl had been kidnapped, or struck down by a hit and run motorist who hid the body in some desolate spot.

They were aware of the possibility that she might have been seized by a maniac, but thought little of the drowning theory, for the girl was a good swimmer.

There were, meanwhile, two reports of a girl resembling Frances having been seen. One placed her in the company of a French or Italian woman on Central st., Scituate, on Sunday afternoon at 5:30.

The other came from Boston, where a woman told of seeing a child in the company of a gray-haired woman in the ladies' room of a downtown hotel.

Protests Cut in U. S. Relief Appropriation

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Leo T. Day-Long Tribute To Flag Tomorrow

A day-long tribute to Old Glory will be climaxed tomorrow at twilight Flay Day ceremonies on Boston Common, with men and women of all faiths offering fervent prayer for the safety of our fighting men.

The special prayers—a part of the flag's 157th birthday observance—will follow a military parade from Copley sq., starting at 6:15 p. m., and including patriotic pageantry on the Common.

Exercises begin on the arrival of marchers on the Charles st. side of the parade grounds on Gen. MacArthur Mall.

In the line of march, which will be over Boylston and Tremont sts. to the Common, will be Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard detachments with their bands and colors, motorized cavalry troops, WACS, WAVES, SPARS and Girl Marines, Army and Navy nurses, Massachusetts State Guards and Women's Defense Corps.

There will be a special United Nations section including representatives of the armed forces and civilian groups of America's allies. Flags of the Allied Nations will be escorted by Aleppo Temple and the Shriner's band.

Flags of the 48 states of the U. S. A. will be carried and escorted by the Special Headquarters and Service Co., M. S. G., and an honor company from Roxbury Memorial High School. Historic flags of colonies and nation of the U. S. A., dating from 1497 to 1944, will be escorted by the Boston Lodge of Elks and House of the Angel Guardian band, with costumed Girl Scout flag bearers and Roxbury Memorial cadets.

Ceremonies at the parade ground will include reading of the President's and Governor's Flay Day proclamations, music and choral singing, and a dramatized "Story of the Stars and Stripes."

Smear Charged By O'Daniel

By The Associated Press

As the southern Democratic revolt took a court turn in Texas, Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel of the Lone Star State emerged as the central figure of what he called a smear attempt by the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee.

What aroused O'Daniel was a committee decision to inquire into the financing of a proposed personal newspaper which promises to be strongly anti-administration.

O'Daniel told a reporter it is no secret that more than $10,000 has been collected from prospective $5-a-year subscribers toward financing the paper, which, he added, would "disseminate the truth about our own government as I see it from the standpoint of a United States Senator in Washington."

O'Daniel, a Democrat who has fought many administration proposals, was obviously pleased with the action of the Texas Democratic executive committee in voting, 37 to 6, against certifying on the primary ballot the names of presidential electors chosen by the pro-Roosevelt group.

With this decision headed for a ruling by the Texas Supreme Court, O'Daniel predicted defeat there of the pro-Roosevelt faction.

O'Daniel's personal war with the Administration found another critic of the New Deal, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D.) of Virginia, keeping quiet about a proposal that his name be linked with that of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio on a coalition ticket. Byrd's influence with the Virginia delegation yet to be chosen will be strong, and members might want to put his name before the Democratic convention as a presidential candidate.

New Washers, Ice Boxes Soon

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—A high official of the Office of Civilian Requirements disclosed today that housewives can expect new washing machines and electric refrigerators to begin coming from factories before the end of the year.

Housewives also may find new pots, pans and other kitchen supplies on the market soon, it was said.

OCR now following a pattern similar to that adopted for resuming the manufacturing of electric flatirons this year, is surveying the industrial field to determine what models of washing machines and mechanical refrigerators can be made and what plants can be turned loose from subcontracting in other fields to make them.

FDR's Optimism Told to Warriors

By JOHN N. BOOTH

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—The Office of War Information is rebroadcasting to the war zones today President Roosevelt's optimistic war report in which he said the Allies achieved the impossible by breaching Hitler's fortress and the Pacific conflict will end much more quickly than had been thought possible.

The President's message, viewed as the brightest since the start of the war, was made in a nationwide radio address opening the Fifth War Loan drive.

OWI said the speech is being beamed in all foreign languages to Allies and enemies alike in the European and Pacific zones, at regular intervals for 24 hours.

The President revealed that European invasion troops lack nothing in the way of equipment to carry out their "dangerous, stuporous undertaking."

He called Germany the first enemy on the list for destruction and said that nation has her back against the wall—"in fact, three walls at once."

He said the German hold on Italy was broken and that the Allies are pressing hard on the heels of German troops who were described as fleeing in ever-growing confusion.

The President recalled the German debacle in Russia and pointed out that Soviet armies were poised for crushing new blows.

In drawing this optimistic picture of Allied success, he said it was appropriate to take a broad look at the panorama of world war on the opening of the Fifth War Loan drive.

Roads of the drive, he declared, will have much to do with the gains were registered in all but one sector, at Tilly-Sur-Seuilles, where strong resistance continued. The Germans were said to have brought up armored reinforcements.

Rommel was reported concentrating fresh troops around St. Lo. NAZIS RUSH RESERVES

German reinforcements also were rushing up the west coast of the peninsula toward Cherbourg.

It was estimated here that a fourth of the entire German western front strength of 60 divisions of more than 1,000,000 men have now been thrown against the invaders.

The enemy high command was said to be relying on a patchwork defense, a policy of throwing in reserves at the most threatened points—a clear indication, supreme headquarters said, that the Germans do not know Allied strategy and fear other strong offensive thrusts and new landings.

The comparatively feeble challenge presented by the German Air Force in the past 24 hours has resulted in destruction of 74 of the enemy planes for a loss of 66 Allied craft.

German E-boats were active in the Channel last night, but in less strength than on the previous night, and their attempts to break into the traffic lanes of the big Allied convoys were frustrated.

New Ship Named Bishop Dinand

The names of the late Bishop Joseph N. Dinand, Boston-born Jesuit, one time president of Holy Cross College and vicar apostolic of Jamaica, B. W. I., and Samuel W. Wakeman, former Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. executive, were among those assigned to nine Liberty ships under construction at Portland, Me., by the Maritime Commission today.

Other ships will honor the memory of Maine-born James Sullivan, who was Governor of Massachusetts in 1807, and the late Edward E. Spafford, who established the New London submarine base and was national commander of the American Legion in 1927 and 1928.

Bishop Dinand, who died about 10 months ago at Weston College where he was spiritual adviser, was born in Boston and celebrated his golden jubilee as a Jesuit in 1937.

He served twice as president of Holy Cross College and in 1927 was appointed by Pope Pius XI to the bishopric of Jamaica with the title of Bishop of Selinus. He returned to Weston College in 1933.

Kakeman, a native of Bridgeport, Ct., entered the shipbuilding industry immediately after his graduation from Cornell and became superintendent of the Bethlehem Fore River plant in 1915. He was promoted rapidly, becoming vice-president in charge of the corporation's entire shipbuilding operations in 1932, a post he held until his death in May, 1940.

Churchill, U. S. Chiefs Visit Front

By The Associated Press
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 13—Prime Minister Churchill, often called the war's foremost reporter, has seen for himself how the battle for Normandy is going and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Invasion Commander, has toured American-held sectors of the battlefront with the top commanders of the United States Armed Forces.

Eisenhower's companions on his historic visit of inspection yesterday were Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. Chief of Staff; Adm. Ernest King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Fleet; Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Chief of American Army Air Forces; Lieut.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Commander of American Ground Forces in France and Rear-Admirals Alan G. Kirk and John Leslie Hall, Commanders of American Naval Task Forces for the invasion.

Churchill steamed to France in the destroyer H.M.S. Kelvin, which used its guns en route to bombard a German position ashore. With him went Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, Premier of the Union of South Africa, and Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Supreme General Staff.

James Callaghan Rites Are Held

Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Joseph's Church, Orient Heights, today for James J. Callaghan, 73, Saratoga, N. Y., who died at his home Saturday after a long illness.

Burial was in Winthrop Cemetery. Celebrant of the requiem mass was the Rev. Francis Cronin, pastor of the church. The Rev. Edmund Buckley served as deacon and the Rev. Richard Norton as sub-deacon.

A well known resident of East Boston for many years, he was survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary A. Callaghan, four sons and one daughter.

AMERICAN PARATROOPERS IN STE. EGLISE

Nazis Torture and Murder Sky Troops, Reporter Finds

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Stanley Richardson, NBC reporter from London, said in a broadcast from London last night there is "indisputable evidence the Germans tortured and murdered" American paratroopers during the early hours of the Normandy landings.

Richardson, who had just returned from headquarters of an American air-borne division near Carentan, said in one instance the bodies of three American enlisted paratroopers, stripped to the waist, with their hands bound, were found in a heap beside the wall of a former German command post.

"There is every indication," said Richardson, "that these Americans were executed after they had been captured, in violation of the rules of war."

In a second case, the body of a second lieutenant was found with his throat cut and a German army wife beside him. Richardson said that according to the men of the command post who discovered the body, the officer "landed in a tree and was murdered as he hung helplessly there."

A third case concerned a major who was found in a village "dead of multiple stab wounds," Richardson declared.

Churchill's War Visit Stirs Reds to Praise

MOSCOW, June 13 (AP)—The Russians obviously were deeply stirred today by news of Prime Minister Churchill's visit to the Normandy beachheads.

"A good fellow! What a person! A real leader!" were some of the exclamations heard from a long line of people buying newspapers.

Fascist Corruption Reign in Italy Bared

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, June 13 (AP)—Corruption within the Fascist regime in Italy was even greater than the most rabid anti-Fascists have charged. This corruption undoubtedly was the prime cause of the poor showing Italy made in the war, and it increased as the war progressed. The full story is now beginning to come out, for many ex-Fascists are only too ready to tell all about it and implicate a few old friends who did them wrong.

Italy apparently went to war with a badly disorganized and ill-equipped army. It did not have the "eight million bayonets" about which Mussolini boasted, and much of its equipment was defective due to graft all along the line.

DUPED EVEN IL DUCE

According to one ex-Fascist, the Fascist setup was so corrupt even Mussolini himself was a victim. On one occasion when Il Duce was making a tour of military airfields, planes were rushed from one field to another and new numbers were quickly painted on them to give Mussolini the impression he was seeing a lot of different aircraft when in reality he was seeing the same ones over and over again.

Even conscription was said to have been rotten. Although all able-bodied men of military age were supposed to have been in the armed forces, one could have himself recorded on the records as "deceased" for a bribe of 20,000 lire (about $1000) and thus escape the draft.

BLACK MARKET REIGN

After Mussolini's government collapsed and the Germans and the puppet "Fascist republic" took over, affairs got worse. The Italians knew the so-called republic had no future, and it attracted only men who had to join up to save their own skins or crooks who saw a chance for a quick cleanup.

In Rome the black market became so extensive it overshadowed all legitimate sources. Outside of bread, no food could be purchased with ration cards because it all went into the black market, where it was sold openly at astronomical prices.

The poor suffered most, of course, and to save themselves many of the poor became black marketeers, going out in the country to buy up food which they carried back and sold or bartered.

Toward the end of the German occupation in Rome officials were charging as high as $100 for seats

Finnegan Pens Second Article

Huck Finnegan's second article written en route to England is published today.

Finnegan sailed in advance of the invasion with Photographer Bill Jones (Record-American-IMP) when illness forced Annen Lake's return earlier than expected.

Finnegan arrived in England well in advance of invasion date, and the first score of his articles was prepared during the mobilization of forces for the invasion. There is no way of telling which, if any, of the local boys he writes about have been in the action in Europe.

in trucks bound for Florence which were supposed to be free. Bribes of all sorts were being passed around and many people were denouncing personal enemies to the Germans.

Liberty Ship Sunk On First War Trip

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Liberty ship Meyer London, delivered by the Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard, Inc., Baltimore, last Feb. 4, was sunk in the Mediterranean by enemy action on her first voyage to a war zone, the War Shipping Administration announced today. A British corvette picked up all the ship's personnel.

Victory Rose

BRISTOL, Ct., June 13 (AP)—Shortly after D-Day, a yellow rose bush in the garden of the Rev. Setivim Crudele produced eight buds, each of which was marked with three "V's" formed by red lines.

It was the first time the bush ever bore blooms other than a solid yellow color.

Dead Japs on French Soil Betray Study of Invasion

By RUSSELL BRINES

Associated Press War Editor

Reports of Japanese combat dead and prisoners in France appear to indicate a Nipponese determination to learn, regardless of cost, Allied methods of large scale amphibious landings.

Japan has neither the men nor the inclination to buntwark German armies, even if the Nazis wanted help.

However, while spending the first two war years as a Japanese prisoner, I was convinced my captors would make every possible effort to prepare against Allied strategy before their time came.

The European invasion offered unparalleled opportunities for studying Allied amphibious tactics which might be duplicated in future thrusts against Japan's major possessions, perhaps in the Philippines or the China coast, where the range of operations will not be confined by the narrow battlegrounds of past Pacific campaigns.

The information Tokyo's war lords want cannot come fully from observers at command posts behind the lines or second hand testimony. From their viewpoint, it can be gathered only by fighters at the front.

If a few of these men live and return, their experiences and observations will be incorporated into a rigorous new training program for the Pacific's D-Day. Japanese militarists would consider the loss slight if all are killed; for the individual's life does not count to them.

from Dorchester High for Girls in '36, was awarded a scholarship to Boston University, majored in arts, and graduated in '40. She started teaching in Connecticut, shifted to Rockland, Mass., chucked her job in favor of the Red Cross when she discovered she was paying more attention to war news than home work.

She has two brothers in the service, Lieut. Joseph T., with the Signal Corps in Italy and Sergt. Thomas G., who is headed for air duty in the Pacific. "Robert, 17, plans to enter Maritime School in the fall," she added.

TALENTED SINGER

Like Mrs. Carson, Eleanor D. Hood of 68 Summit ave., Providence, graduated from Hope St. High in Providence. Later she received a degree from B. U.'s College of Music. She is a talented singer, planned a concert career, wound up working 10½ hours a night behind a defense plant drill press. She is contemplating indefinite Red Cross service "because music is becoming an integral part of therapy, especially for mental patients."

Tall, charming Audrey Bibby, from the villa of Sanda Norma, Brattleboro, Vt., studied languages and the history of art in Florence, Italy. She is chucking because she is getting overseas ahead of her brother, Allen Bibby, Jr., an Amherst grad. Allen is with the Army Air Force in California, but a weak eye is keeping him in the States. "I've already released two WACS for active duty," he wrote his sister recently.

Boston's Christian Science Monitor donated petite, lively Dorothy Minnick to the Red Cross. "I worked right up to March 29," said the former Indianan, who "loves Boston" after spending three years as secretary in the Monitor's photo dept.

OLD QUINCY FAMILY

Gene Hamlin makes her home in Montclair, N. J., but she comes from an old Quincy and Orono, Me., family. Her father, Horace P. Hamlin, taught advanced calculus at University of Maine, and "Hamlin Hall" there is named for him. He is now civil engineering in New York.

Limestone, Me., way down near Presque Isle, has given Eve Chase to the corps. Eve graduated from University of Maine with honors, in '39, was an executive in Sears Roebuck's Boston store when she up and enlisted on April 10.

There are other girls in the group with Boston leanings, such as Trudy O'Keefe Blackburn of Schenectady, who graduated from the Leland Powers School of Art in the Fenway, and who is "infatuated" with our dear old city.

They are a vivacious, merry throng, who chat with the G.I.'s on the deck in the afternoon, entertain them with songs and dances in the evening, thus making the officers aboard very jealous indeed.

They realize they are embarked on no joy-ride because older members of the party like Laura Bacon and Rose Dolan, who worked with Anne Morgan in the last war, have told them they can expect to work 16 hours out of every 24. They're ready.

Beauty

Looks Just Like Nylons

Fashion

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday.—The more I observe human nature, the more I feel we are all of us perverse! When it does not rain, we want it to rain. When it is cool, we wish it were warm, and when it is warm, we wish it were cooler! When we are the center of observation, we wish we could divert attention from ourselves to something else, and when we are completely overlooked, we feel rather deflated. This is observable at our earliest age.

At the moment, we have a two-month-old baby staying with us in the White House—my niece, Mrs. Edward Elliott's little boy. He is a very good baby and wonderfully trained to eat and sleep, and to cry little. He already shows signs of the strength which some day will be his.

My daughter took her 5-year-old son in to look at the youthful addition to the household and warned him to be very quiet and not to disturb the baby. He heeded her warning until he was about to leave the room, and then he gave a good hard stamp to see what this minute object would do. He was much disappointed when the baby continued to sleep peacefully. Perverse at five.

I AM MUCH interested in Mr. Willkie's series of articles. The first, which I read this morning, seems to prove that the objectives of the present Administration should be the objectives of the Republican party, but that administratively they should be carried out with greater efficiency and that the Republican party, if led by the proper people, would undoubtedly prove more efficient in administration.

This is a question which we will have to study historically. In the past, the Republicans have been in control for more years than have Democrats. The last period of control led us from the end of World War I to 1932. By that time, the pattern of World War II was already laid.

ANY GROUP would profit by the study of history and would learn what brings about poor administration—the hates and jealousies among people who should be interested primarily in the achievement of certain results, but who rarely can separate their objectives from their own personal ambitions. This is not peculiar to any party, but seems to be an attribute of human nature.

Some day we may be able to wipe it out and make all administration more efficient. The influence of personal ambition creates differences and jealousies. It prevents people from giving the best they can to any program, and, in the end, it defeats their own ambition.

NOW COMES a delicately perfumed leg makeup... to give exquisite sheerness of desirable nylon hose to your legs... and to fool your friends in detecting the difference between hosed and madeup gams... be the color caramel or chocolate. It is the smoothness that counts... come rain or shine these warm days.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
"WHERE DID you get those nylons?" my friends popped at me the other day... their eyes green with envy... and a detectable note of envious scorn in their contraltos. But the laugh was on them... and I was pleased as Punch... for it was bare-legged that I was... yes, indeed... hoseless... but the gams were painted with a chocolate make-up of exquisite texture.

And, were their faces red when they got close to the legs and saw for themselves... that the leg make-up as smooth as an unrippled pond... looked like nylons... and they couldn't tell the difference. The creator of this shocking stocking paint is a creator, also, of distinctive perfumes.

Consequently, the smart leg make-up is as perfect as cosmetic science can achieve it. And, besides, it is perfumed.

Leg make-up as you know is chic with cottons in the summer... and at the beach blends with suntan... simultaneously helping to protect the delicate skin of the legs. Easy as a wink to smooth on... this stocking liquid stays on until it is removed with soap and warm water... and it comes only in two very smart shades... caramel and chocolate.

LASTS RAIN OR SHINE

It smooths on like silk... it looks like silk... rain or shine... it wears like quality hose. No hose wrinkles to contend with... no gaping at the heel to ruin your disposition when you want to look oh, so trim and pert... no garters to bother about... there is nothing like an exquisite leg make-up to tax your scrutinizers to tell the difference between hosed and unhosed legs.

You probably are very much confused about that leg make-up... what with so many on the toiletries counters... but you can't go wrong with this one which fooled my smartypants... and they think they know it all.

For the name of this sheer stocking make-up scented for distinction, phone the Beauty Dept. LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SOPHISTICATED BUT FEMINE is this dress of summer checks in black and white... a casually tailored sheer shirt-waister... to wear with white or black accessories. New York designed... it features a neat belt of black patent... and back and front skirt pleats. The necktie gives it a dress-up look... so serviceable for town and luncheon wear.—R. M.

Oven Meal at Canning Time

By MARTHA LEE

IT IS WELL to plan an oven meal for a day when the top of the range will be used for canning, for then both dinner and canning can proceed without interference. A roast is a good choice of meat for such a meal. Roasting at low temperature, it calls for no watching or basting.

OVEN MEAL

Rollad Lamb Shoulder Roast
Oven-Creamed Potatoes
Baked Tomatoes
Green Bean Salad
Bread Butter Coffee

TO ROAST THE MEAT

Have shoulder of lamb boned and rolled at the market. Place on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so that the bulb is in center of roast. Place in slow oven (300 deg. F.) until the meat thermometer registers 180 deg. F. Allow about 40 to 45 minutes per pound. (A rolled roast always takes more time per pound than one with the bone in.) Place on hot platter. Make gravy with some of the drippings and serve.

OVEN-CREAMED POTATOES

4 medium potatoes
1 cup milk Salt and pepper
Peel and dice potatoes in small cubes. Place in a casserole and cover with warmed milk. Add seasonings. Cover and bake in a slow oven for about 40 minutes. Remove cover to allow steam to evaporate and cook until thick and slightly browned, about 20 minutes longer.

Rollad Lamb Shoulder Roast

BAKED OR BROILED TOMATOES

6 medium tomatoes
1 1/2 tsp. prepared mustard
2 tsp. minced onion
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Sugar Salt

Remove stem end and cut each tomato in half crosswise. Spread cut side of each half with some of the prepared mustard. Top each with 1/4 tsp. minced onion, 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, and sprinkle each half with a little sugar and salt. Arrange in baking pan and bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 deg. F. for 30 minutes, or broil 15 minutes, under a very low broiler heat. Makes 6 servings.

GREEN BEAN SALAD

1 1/2 lbs. green beans
3/4 tsp. salt 1/4 cup vinegar
1 tsp. sugar 1/4 cup water
Speck pepper Salad greens
1 cup boiling water
1-3 cup chopped white onions
2 tsp. salad oil

Cook beans, which have been cut lengthwise into 1 1/2 inch pieces, with 3 tsp. of the salt and boiling water, covered, until beans are tender—about 25 minutes. Drain; add remaining ingredients. Mix well with a fork. Chill for several hours. Serve on any desired salad greens. Makes 4 servings.

RHUBARB BETTY

1 1/2 cups diced rhubarb
1 1/2 cups moist bread crumbs
3/4 cup sugar 1-3 cup water
1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 1/2 tsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. grated orange rind
Place half diced rhubarb in casserole. Combine bread crumbs, sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle one-half over rhubarb and dot with half the butter. Repeat with remaining rhubarb, crumbs and butter. Sprinkle with orange rind; add water and cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 45 minutes. Serve with Hard or Foamy Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Names for 'Father'

By MRS. BEECKMAN

In a recent survey to find out the various designations besides "Father" used by sons and daughters, it was found that a large percentage found "Dad" and "Daddy" names of more intimate affection and friendliness. Many, especially grown-up men and women, preferred "Pop" or "Pa." "Papa" (and usually pronounced "Poppa") registered some votes.

Stripes on Shirt Add Dash

By BETTINA REDWELL

SHORTS, plus shirts, have become an American sports classic, and likely to be as permanent as the shirtwaist dress. And lots of girls are going to keep right on wearing them this summer as usual.

And there are ways of making them seem like something quite new, and thus exciting. The shirt that pairs with shorts, for instance, will seem more like a new style if it is made of boldly striped cotton, like the one sketched, which comes in bright red and white-striped cotton.

The shorts, too, are a little different, for they are pleated at the front, thus getting more grace and girlishness than the very mannish shorts have. They are white cotton gabardine, and worn with a red belt.

Asks Miners Stay on Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes called on coal miners and operators to skip the usual July 1-10 vacation period this year.

COAST GUARDSMEN IN LIFEBOAT RACES
One of the Events Scheduled for INVASION SHOW

The show, headline attraction of the city's Fifth War Loan drive, will stimulate conditions of the actual invasion showing how troops run ashore from invasion barges, and how all branches of the armed forces cooperate in a major operation.

Demonstrations of flame throwing, life saving, mine sweeping, and bombing will feature the mammoth military and naval spectacle of troops, planes, invasion barges, Navy P-T boats and other equipment.

The exhibition will be under the auspices of the retail merchants of Boston. The U. S. Treasury Department will be the producers. Units of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Chemical Warfare and Merchant Marine will take part in the thrilling, bloodless replica of real battle.

LANDING NETS

Crews will be seen swarming up and down landing nets, radio-controlled boats will serve as bombing targets, lifesaving crews will demonstrate their technique and amphibious "Ducks" of the Army and Coast Guard will race on the river.

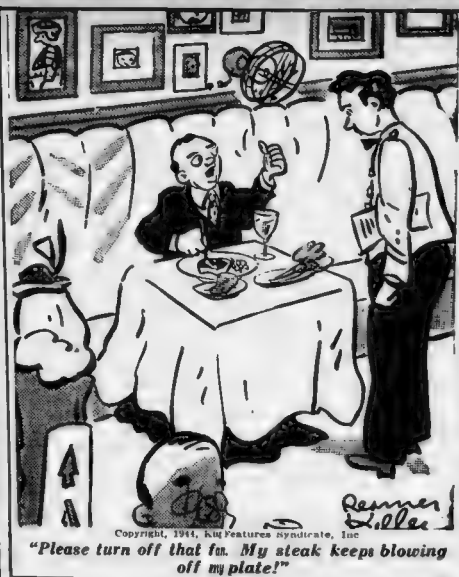

There also will be Coast Guard lifeboat races and an "upset drill." The Army will assign more than 300 experts to demonstrate its amphibious equipment, including tanks. The Air Force will send bombers and fighters, and four crack service bands will furnish music.

90 STORES

THE INVASION SHOW was arranged by Federal authorities as a result of the greatest cooperative effort ever undertaken by New England merchants. More than 90 department and specialty stores have united to arrange it.

Customers and employees of the stores who purchase war bonds will be presented with free tickets for the INVASION SHOW. Admission will be strictly limited to tickets, which, worn on lapels, will admit bearers to a large roped in area on the Boston side of the Esplanade, which will be patrolled by local and military police.

Lucky spectators will see a thrill a minute as planes and bombers soar overhead, flame throwers roar and bombs fall on targets in the river.

Paper Drive Nets Red Cross $3500

The Boston Red Cross direct service between men in the armed forces and their families. At present, he said, the Red Cross is spending at the rate of $15,000,000 a month and has more than 25,000 representatives serving in 54 countries.

Chairman George C. Wiswell of the Advertising Club's business office cleanup drive turned over the check to Red Cross officials and announced an additional gift would be made when current paper contributions are sold. Joseph R. Hamlen, chairman of the Red Cross Metropolitan Chapter, said that 80 per cent of the gift would be spent in expediting employees.

Scene Stealer—From modeling children's clothes in New York, Peggy Ann Garner has switched to being Hollywood's ace "scene-stealer" in junior roles. But here, with young Actor Ted Donaldson who is working with her in a new film, Ted is stealing the scene as they share dessert in the studio commissary.

A Day for the Doughboy

THE TITLE of this editorial is not original with us. We found it, spread across the top of two pages, in the current issue of The Infantry Journal, which is published in Washington by the United States Infantry Association.

The accompanying article explains that next Thursday has been designated by the Association as INFANTRY DAY—a day to honor the men and officers who form the most numerous branch of the United States Army—as infantrymen do in all great armies—and who are doing the hardest kind of fighting in this great war, as infantrymen have done in virtually all wars.

It is fit and proper that our infantry should have a "day" at this very time.

Our infantry alone could not win the war for us.

BUT ASSUREDLY THE WAR COULD NOT BE WON WITHOUT THE INFANTRY.

"For many American doughboys," as The Infantry Journal says, "June 15 . . . will be another tough day of fighting, without a chance to make it any other kind of special occasion."

"There may not even be, for these outfits, a little special chow to mark the day."

"Actually, IT WILL BE THESE FIGHTING UNITS for whom Infantry Day has been set aside as a special day, and for whom it will be celebrated wherever it possibly can be."

Many will perhaps recall that General Eisenhower had not long ago that in the glamour of war the deeds and the indispensability of the "foot-slogging doughboy" went too little noticed.

AS TO THAT, we again quote from The Infantry Journal:

"The doughboy has gone at his job in this war—THE BIGGEST AND HARDEST JOB OF ALL—so quietly, and with so little said about him, that millions of American people were almost believing that he couldn't be very important in a modern Army."

"What seemed an obvious and simple fact to any Army man who knew what a modern Army is—and how it centers around the infantry—was not understood by a great many people."

"They had heard and read a great deal about other kinds of fighting men but not so very much about the infantryman."

"Now the nation is finding out how important the doughboy is—how the war cannot POSSIBLY be won without his utmost efforts."

"Now it is understood more fully what the American citizen at home has asked the infantry—and all who help the infantry—to accomplish."

This year, The Infantry Journal remarks, is "THE HARDEST YEAR FOR OUR ARMY AND FOR OUR INFANTRY."

Considering then, what THE DOUGHBOY is doing for America, and how many of his comrades in arms will pay that "last full measure of devotion" of which Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg—considering that, we can but repeat with sad but proud approval what The Infantry Journal says of the approaching June 15:

"Infantry Day can well be a day of sober thought for Americans—a day on which tribute can be paid to the man of our armed forces—the American doughboy—who has finished the job at El Guettar, Attu, and scores of other battles, BUT HAS A FAR GREATER BATTLE AHEAD OF HIM."

"Infantry Day will be a day when ALL AMERICANS can be thinking of the infantry and what it has meant to our country, and what it still means to its future."

One of the best and most patriotic things an American at home can do to support and sustain the worthy and admirable infantryman is the purchase of as many War Bonds as his financial situation will permit.

WASHINGTON, June 13—When Senator "Happy" Chandler was Governor of Kentucky, a judge from one of the hill counties came to "Happy's" home town of Versailles and got tossed in the clink for being stoned.

The sheriff, an inquisitive fellow it seems, asked the learned jurist why he had so far forgotten his judicial noblesse oblige as to get plastered in the gubernatorial balliwick.

Whereupon the law-giver drew himself up with unsteady dignity and said:

"I was merely obeying orders. The Governor told me to do it!"

Naturally, this caused a measure of skepticism. The sheriff called the Governor, and in an apologetic voice, said:

"This is really too absurd to bother you with, Governor. But I thought perhaps you should know about it. A judge visiting has just been juggled for being fried."

"And now, do you know what he is trying to tell us? He is swearing up and down that you told him to do it!"

"That's right," said "Happy."

"I did!"

"HAPPY" TOLD me this story the other day just before he took a train for Hollywood, where his daughter, Mimi, a movie starlet, is to be married this week.

Ah! I'm tormented so
Night and day
All the while hoping, that
Soon thou wilt say
That which mine eager
And love-famished heart
Seeks but the answer, thy lips can impart.

All I dare hope for, and treasure
thou art.

—JOHN REEVES

IN THE ABOVE Mr. Reeves made a gallant and desperate attempt to write an acrostic for a girl named Anastasia. The "I" line seems to have stopped him. He might have said it read "In their own sweet way impart" . . . A London newspaper says six weeks' old bulldog puppies are being sold on Bond st. for £105 ($120) each and that American soldiers are buying them . . . Milk bottles left in the sun cause the loss of vitamin C in the milk. Tell that to your milkman . . . If a night club patron protests a high charge the tendency of the management is to brand the customer "a cheap guy." But how the night club maestros squawked, whined, screamed and whimpered when taxed a little extra to help pay for the war . . . The original Tony Pastor

I could not see any connection between the marital intentions of Miss Chandler and the saga of the jurist but this did not perturb me greatly because nearly everything I hear in Washington seems to be a non sequitur.

"The way it happened—about the stoned judge, I mean, was this," said "Happy":

"Clay County is Republican, but when the county judge there died, it was up to me to appoint a successor."

"Naturally, I was going to give the job to a Democrat, because I was very carefully brought up in the belief that no job should ever go to a Republican when it could possibly be avoided."

"The Democrats in Clay County—I think there must have been a couple—assured me that this candidate was a fine young lawyer who would be an ornament to the bench. They warned me, however, that he had one failing—every so often he got roaring drunk."

"I took him aside and said: 'I will not give you this job unless you make one promise. This is a shooting country, and if you get cutting up alcoholic diodes, these Republicans will kill you. Promise me you will never get stinko in Clay County.'"

"The candidate took a solemn vow. Then I added:

"If you ever feel a binge coming on, get away from this county. Come to Lexington or to my town of Versailles and have it!"

knew the words of over 1500 songs, any of which he could immediately sing on request.

ASIDES: In her heyday Eva Tanguay was fond of carrying thousand dollar bills in her purse. At times she had in her handbag as many as 20 thousand-dollar bills. When are they going to make a film based on Eva's life? Betty Hutton is a natural to play the part of the "I Don't Care Girl" . . . Gertrude Ederle is working in a plane factory on Long Island, N. Y. She is 36 now. It was on Aug. 6, 1926, she swam the English channel . . . A United States soldier stationed in England who wishes to marry an English girl must apply to his superior officer for permission three months before the ceremony. To marry without permission is a court martial offense.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—I am a vegetarian. My husband refers to this as "a modern fad." Didn't they have vegetarians in Brooklyn when you were a boy? A—Maybe they did have vegetarians in Brooklyn when I was a boy, but none on our block. I lived in a steak and corn beef neighborhood. However, the vegetarian idea is not a modern development. Plutarch

By George Dixon

"And," added Happy, "he obeyed orders."

I HAD SOME vague notion of using this as a pivot for a sermon on politics. The theme was to have been that the finest qualification for office—according to New Deal gospel—is the willingness to follow orders, no matter what.

The idea was to point out that Mr. Roosevelt has always been a stickler for being obeyed. But a friend talked me out of it.

"Don't strain yourself," he advised. "Besides, you are certain to have a lot of folks going around deliberately misunderstanding you. They will write letters saying that you are a provocator—that President Roosevelt never commanded anyone to come to Washington to get ossified!"

I HAVE ONLY one other item of intelligence, which, conceivably, could be worked into a lecture of contemporary financing, if I felt up to it.

A couple of weeks ago, Senator Chandler went to the races. He remarked to a friend:

"I hope I break even today. I need the money!"

THE COUNTESS Austine Cassini, who is a very dainty type, was discussing the subject of beauty with another lady the other day.

"I wish I were prematurely gray," remarked the other lady.

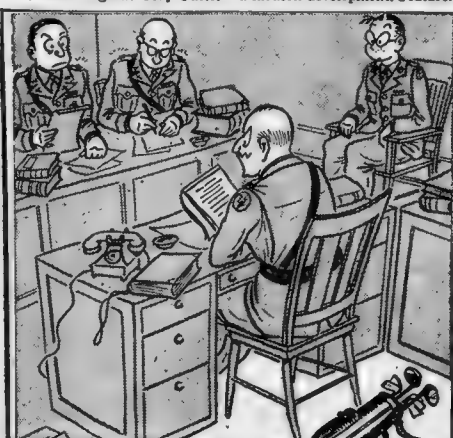

"My dear," replied the Countess, sweetly, "You couldn't be!"

was a vegetarian. So was Seneca. They lived in the First Century A. D. Q—Please settle an argument going on in New Guinea. What is the complete name of the Nazi party? A—Nationalsozialistische Deutsche Arbeiterpartei, which translated is the National Socialist German Workers' Party. Q—Who popularized the song titled "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley"? A—Never heard that song. Before my time. I asked Clem McCarthy, who claimed it was before his time. We asked Tommy Lyman and he said it was before his time. We asked Tom Shaw, he said he didn't know. So then we asked Col. E. B. Bradley and he said it was sung by Lotie Gilson. So if it wasn't, collect your stogie from Col. Bradley,

PLEASE NOTE! In several cases recorded in the public prints, parents claimed they had been given the wrong baby at the hospital. In none of these cases was the paternity mentioned. The Journal of the American Medical Association states that in such cases a blood test to establish paternity is a reliable method of solving the problem . . . Have you read "No Spaghetti for Breakfast" by Alfred Wagg and David Brown? Neither have I. But it is a best seller in London. This opus must be added to the books with quaint titles, which includes "The Postman Always Rings Twice," "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" "If I Had Four Apples" and "The Rivet in Grandfather's Neck." A screwy title seems a distinct asset to a book. Think of that when you write your next novel.

PASSING BY: Jack Norwood, erstwhile vaudeville and musical comedy star. His name is so often connected with Nora Bayes, who was his second wife, it has been forgotten his first wife was that very beautiful and brilliant blonde, Louise Dresser. We also hear so much about former Ziegfeld Follies girls that the connection of a great many male comedians with the Follies is forgotten. For example, Mr. Norwood appeared in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1909, Nora Bayes was in this edition of the Follies, too. She quit and was replaced by Eva Tanguay . . . Mary Margaret McBride, brilliant broadcaster Mary, who freely admits she is 44 years old, is not married.

HOLLYWOOD, June 13—There isn't a chance of McG-M making the same mistake with 14-year-old Jane Powell they made with Deanna Durbin. Deanna slipped through their fingers and then made "Three Smart Girls" for Charles Rogers and immediately zoomed to stardom. Now, as soon as Jane Powell makes one more picture for Rogers (she has been seen in "Song of the Open Road") she'll return to her home studio.

Jane Powell

Interesting the way her career parallels Deanna's. She, too, will have the benefit of Joe Pasternak's guidance. Joe is planning to star Jane in a musical, "Love Makes Me Sick," with Walter Pidgeon playing her father. If Professor Pasternak manages the Powell child's career as well as he managed the Durbin movies, she'll be our next youthful star.

USED TO BE you couldn't go to a movie without seeing one of James A. Fitzpatrick's travelogues from interesting spots of the globe. But since the war made most places "military secrets" I haven't seen the travelogues so often. I learned today Mr. Fitzpatrick and his roving camera have not gone into retirement—far from it. He has signed a contract with Herbert J. Yates of Republic to make a series of fictional stories in Mexico and South America.

THE LATTER PART of the week Frances Reed, young New York actress, and Richard Coogan, whose appearance on the air with Helen Hayes in "Miracle in the Rain" created so much interest, arrive in our town. They are being brought here by Hal Wallis, who will test them at Paramount. If they turn out as well as he hopes, they will be the first members of a stock company he plans to create.

IN SPITE OF the timeliness of war dramas, Warners are not abandoning their yen for Westerns. They believe Flynn to stardom in these outdoor adventure yarns, and now they are going to give the hoss-and-saddle treatment to a young actor they believe has definite starring possibilities. I'm referring to Zachary Scott, who got excellent reviews in his first picture on the lot, "Mask of Dimitrios." His next is to be "The Frontiersman," a pioneer American story by Thaddeus Williamson. Scott even inherits Flynn's former director, Raoul Walsh, to guide him in his plainsman's career.

SNAPSHOT OF HOLLYWOOD: KAY KUYER and his 22-year-old bride, Georgia Carroll, will take a trip to North Carolina to see his mother as soon as he can get a vacation. The David Butters have offered their Malibu house for their honeymoon. Errol Lubitsch was host at a luncheon Sunday for Gene Tierney and Lieut. Oleg Cassini; Carmen Miranda leaves for New York in a month to have a medical check up; Hattie McDaniel celebrated her birthday Saturday. All she can talk about are the plans for her baby; Lieut. Col. Jimmy Stewart (isn't it wonderful to say that) has been shipped a batch of harmonicas by Carl Brisson. Yep, Jimmy likes to play the harmonica and he'll probably do it now to please the boys. Victor Moore, celebrating his 51st year in show business, goes to Broadway this fall for the lead in the Al Lewis-Max Gordon comedy.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Copyright, 1944, King Features Synd., Inc.
NEW YORK, June 13—I would like to write a few things about my father, simply because he has been in my mind a great deal these past couple of days, ever since our troops marched into Rome. My dad, Jim Kilgallen of INS, marched in with those troops. In his dispatches written immediately after he set up headquarters, he mentioned casually that the newspapermen "ducked bullets and machine gun fire" as they entered the city. That, I take it, is his way of saying that he ducked bullets and machine gun fire.

Dad is given to understatement, particularly in instances when his own heroism or talents are involved, and the word "I" seldom appears in his copy.

EVEN BEFORE his stories came through from the captured city I had an idea he had moved up from Naples, because my small son received a radiogram from him "sans origin." The radiogram simply sent love to everyone in the family by name and ended, "I know Dickie is a good boy." All of us at home had an idea that the words between the lines said, "I am moving on and you may not hear from me for a while, but don't worry." So we were not surprised to see his name over a Rome dateline.

Well, I know how happy he is. He has covered every kind of story there is to cover—fires, floods, weddings, births, deaths, and crimes of passion—and now he is covering the biggest story of them all.

It is impossible for anyone not staggered for the newspaper business to understand the exhilaration a reporter feels when news is breaking—the heady, heart-quicken sensation that stays with you through days of backbreaking work, through painful sleepless hours, through the tension of wild competition.

To understand it, you may have to be the kind of a person who hangs around the city room even after the paper has gone to bed, the kind of a person whose heart leaps at the word "flash" on the news machine.

MY FATHER is that kind of person. In a much less dedicated way, so am I. That's why I envy my father this minute. That is why I found it a little tough to write a Broadway column today. I wish I could send him a cablegram. I will say: "Wish I were there. I used to be a newspaperman myself."

HOLLYWOOD, June 13—Seen and Heard: A couple of soldiers standing in front of the London Shop on Hollywood Boulevard looking longingly and admiringly at the swanky civilian apparel on display.

Greta Garbo

Charles Vidor, who directed the Madame Sand-Chopin love story film, did an OVI overseas broadcast to the Hungarians, asking them to sabotage the Nazis in every way possible. . . . The Screen Publicists Guild are getting together to publish a pro-Roosevelt newspaper to be distributed to the movie people. . . . Col. Frank Capra's "Battle of China" is one of the most informative and impressive documentary pictures made and should be given a general release so that it may be seen by the public.

ENTERTAINMENT: Greta Garbo and Jean Feldman together at an auction on Wilshire Boulevard, and Gee Gee was the show of the evening. . . . The Burns and Allen broadcast gets better and better, and the program with Betty Gable was a honey. When George said to Gracie "tell me the truth in a hurry," Gracie answered: "It isn't easy to tell the truth in a hurry." . . . The L's go for Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra together, for they did another "Command Performance" the other night. . . . Kay Saunders, the singer at Jim Dolans, has been signed for a picture at Universal. . . . Billy Wilder was going to run another advertisement in the trade papers joshing the "Since You Went Away" ads, but was asked not to do it. His advertisement was to feature the title of his picture, "Double Indemnity," is a photograph of Cary Grant, and the caption: "He isn't in it, either." . . . Al Pearce claims that Ernest, the doorman at Mocambo, felt humorous the other evening for he kept announcing: "Dancing Room Only."

HOLLYWOODIANS: An actor, a producer and an airplane manufacturer were dining together at Chasen's. When the bill came, the actor said: "Let me take it. With my salary the government pays half." The producer said: "No, let me take it. With my salary the government pays practically three-quarters of it." The airplane manufacturer said: "Let me take it. The government pays me cost plus a certain percentage. I can make a profit." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

Boston After Dark

THE CHANCES NOW ARE AGAINST Boston housing the white-premiere of the new Mae West starring show, "Catherine Was Great" . . . Michael Todd, producer of the West show, has booked an air-cooled house in Philadelphia as the intimate theater for the show's first performance on any stage. . . . It will be the first Todd show to premiere away from Boston since "Something for the Boys" started the Todd streak of three hits out of four. . . . Mike's most recent hit, "Pick-up Girl," has been sold to the new independent producing unit composed of Leo Spitz and William Goetz, the latter being Louis B. Mayer's son-in-law. . . . But the canny Mike accepted only a $30,000 "token" payment for the rights. . . . Another clause of the deal potentially, movie sale yet made by a Broadway producer. . . . For Mike is to get no less than 50 per cent of the profits.

SPIKE JONES, THE LEADER of the "City Slickers," is becoming a regular correspondent. . . . He submits a bit of news which, at least is curious. . . . "Behind Those Swinging Doors," writes Spike, "besides our regular musicians, I hired a trombone player. . . . I gave him the manuscript. Upon recording scale of thirty dollars NOT to play the instrument. He just had to burp on cue, and he did it with unusual finesse."

FIRST MAJOR CASUALTY among New York big time night club operators since the 30 per cent tax (which is to become 20 per cent on July 1) is Arthur Lesser, managing director of La Vie Parisienne. . . . He listed liabilities of $34,334 and no assets. . . . But his financial troubles started before the tax, he says, and La Vie Parisienne is not involved. . . . Meantime, announcements of summer closing of bistros which ordinarily face the heat and do so profitably are coming very fast. . . . Whether the public will accept even the 20 per cent tax is a moot question.

EDDIE CANTOR has found in playing the hospitals, or "The Purple Heart Circuit" as it is being called in show-business, that the wounded boys enjoy the "oldies" most. . . . The song they request particularly is, "I Don't Wanna Get Well, I Don't Wanna Get Well (I'm in Love With a Beautiful Nurse)." . . . E. V. Durling, a leading authority on "oldies" among the pop songs, can tell you probably when that one was first popular. It was in this department's adolescence, as we recall — a long, long time ago. . . . Johnny Lydon, best bridge player of the Greater Boston World War II veterans (we think), is working as chief of ushers in a leading outdoor emporium of sports.

DR. MARTIN SPEELMAN'S daughter-doctor, lovely little Kathleen, has acquired a famous patient. . . . He is none other than the famous Louis B. Mayer (mentioned above). . . . The Mr. Big of M-G-M's redoubtable movie factory has appointed Dr. Kathleen his official physician when in New York. . . . Warners are making little Claire Foley a star in their forthcoming "Don't Ever Leave Me" . . . Gene Fowler will net at least a quarter of a million from his John Barrymore biography, "Good Night, Sweet Prince. . . . And what a sweet job of writing the Barrymore yarn represents. . . . Ethel Barrymore, who was first reported as not pleased with the Fowler tome, has been converted to loving it, we hear. . . . Gene presents Ethel as the lovely lady she is, the one whom John relied infinitely (and was never let down).

East Side Kids For Trans-Lux

The East Side Kids... Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell and Billy Benedict... are starred in Monogram's comedy-drama, "Follow the Leader," which opens tomorrow on the Trans-Lux screen.

Joan Marsh is the attractive blonde leading lady. Other supporting roles are played by Jack LaRue, Mary Gordon, J. Farrell MacDonald, Gene Austin and the Sherrill Sisters. The picture was produced by Sam Katzman and Jack Dietz, and directed by William Beaudine.

Briefly, the story finds the East Side Kids, under the shrewd guidance of Gorcey, conducting a private investigation into a series of warehouse robberies for which one of their gang has been unjustly accused and jailed. Gorcey and Hall experience many a close brush with disaster at the hands of LaRue and his henchmen.

The companion film will be "Call of the South Seas," co-starring Janet Martin and Allan Lane.

"PIN UP GIRL," starring Betty Grable, G-I Joe's favorite pin up, is due in a blaze of Technicolor fireworks on the Metropolitan screen on Thursday. John Harvey is just one of a flock of talented performers who appear in support of the curvaceous Mrs. Harry James.

Madge Evans in Comedy

By PEGGY DOYLE

The Frederic Lonsdale comedy, "Another Love Story," as pre-war as a pair of nylons at its unveiling at the Colonial last October, shows up more entertainingly under the more informal auspices of summer stock.

Last night at Cambridge's Brattle Hall, where it was offered as the second in the Cambridge Summer Theater series, the Lonsdale play assumed more diverting angles. Hollywood's Madge Evans is presently appearing in the role created by Hollywood's Margaret Lindsay and Richard Hart, now in his second semester with the professional resident company, has taken over the characterization originally impersonated by that overseas USO tour, and another familiar to Brattle Hall customers, Roland Young.

Played with a lighter touch than when first previewed downtown, heart of gold, and in Cantabrigia's less demanding environs, "Another Love Story" appeared to amuse most of the people much of the time. From us to you, it is fair summer fare and, as presented last night, benefits from generally good performances.

Miss Evans, no stranger to Cambridge Summer Theater audiences or to movie fans anywhere, improves on Miss Lindsay as the ill-fated, vengeful heroine. Edmon Ryan, recently returned from an overseas USO tour, and another familiar to Brattle Hall customers, played with a lighter touch than when first previewed downtown, heart of gold.

Newport JVA Unit Pushes Paper Drive

Another Junior Victory Army Corps is responding 100 per cent to Uncle Sam's renewed appeals for the salvage of waste paper, the country's No. 1 critical material.

It is the "Colin Kelly" Corps of Newport, R. I., sponsored by Col. William A. Kelley, R. I. liaison officer for the JVA and newly-appointed county commissioner of the R. I. Amateur Soft Ball Ass'n.

The corps is divided into boys' and girls' divisions commanded by Norman Gomes and Victoria Maingot, respectively.

In addition to waste paper salvage, the corps is striving to make a new record for collection of tin cans and kitchen fats.

Col. Kelley is heading the new campaign assisted by Capt. (Adjutant) Christopher Horgan, Nurse, Lieut. Mary L. Maingot, Cyndy Maingot and Mrs. Anthony Gomes. Joseph E. Dupois, Jr., of Weid st., New Bedford, is a new member of the corps and is expected to organize a patrol in that city.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228,

Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter.

Failure of Squeeze Cost Medford Title

By MIKE GILLOOLY

It's just too bad that the Schoolboy Writers' Association couldn't have arranged to have two Eastern representatives in the State Championship play. There was so little difference in the two finalists that either could rightfully be termed the Eastern titlist.

KEPT ON PLUGGING—Even though Catcher Roberts of Newton High was nipped at first in the third inning of the vital Eastern title game with Medford High yesterday this hard worker stuck in there and he and his teammates finally overcame the Mustangs 3 to 2, thereby qualifying to meet the winner of the Holyoke-Amherst game today for the state crown in a game to be played later.

Stanley Hack Back in Fold

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Chicago baseball fans greeted one of their favorite players today, Stanley Hack, the Chicago Cubs' veteran third baseman.

The 34-year-old Hack came from his Oregon ranch and will make his first 1944 appearance with the Cubs when they return to Wrigley Field from a road trip. Hack, who has played with the Cubs for 12 years, earlier had announced he would be unable to play this year because of duties on his ranch.

Samosets Call Off Canoe Marathon

The 26-mile canoe marathon held each year by the Samoset Canoe Club of West Roxbury, has been cancelled for this year due to the war.

This canoe classic has run without a break for 17 years, but many of the former paddlers are now in the armed forces.

The officials of the club will renew this sporting event as soon as possible.

Giants, Dodgers Night Game Near Sellout

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Every reserved and box seat for the New York Giant-Brooklyn Dodger night game at the Polo Grounds Wednesday was sold by noon Monday. However, 40,000 unreserved seats will go on sale at 5 p. m. the day of the game.

Both Newton and Medford saved the big thrills of the four day tourney for the final at Braves Field as the greatest crowd of the play-offs stayed through for the final out.

Newton triumphed but only by the slimmest of margins. But Medford was hardly beaten and as the game ended the Mustangs were still threatening with the tying run on third base. Only a mix-up of signals failed to throw the tilt into overtime and the way the two were playing the ball game might have still been going on.

Joe Gianelli, long a spark-plug in Medford sports, and Eddie Coppinger missed up on the play called by Coach Art Tirrell. Gianelli was on third with Coppinger at bat. The ex-grid captain broke for the plate but Coppinger failed to swing with the result that he was caught flat at the plate as Medford's biggest chance for its 19th straight victory flew out of the home of the Braves.

"It was the best team we've faced," said Coach Jeff Jones of Newton as he accepted the congratulations of Coach Tirrell on the field. "We were in a battle from the start and we knew it. I haven't even given a thought as to my pitcher for Saturday's finale."

Holyoke is the focal point of schoolboy interest today as that's where Amherst and Holyoke, the finalists in the Western tourney, play off. Which ever wins will come to Boston Saturday as the guests of the Eastern Writers' to play Newton at Fenway Park.

Joe McManus, the Newton flinger, was the coolest person in the park in the final game even when Medford staged its greatest rallies the seventh and ninth innings. In the seventh, after serving up two triples and a long single, the chunky lefty settled down and retired the side with ease. Then in the ninth, with the tying and winning runs on base, McManus took his time and fanned the last batter to give the Garden City its first sectional championship.

Newton fielding was superb throughout the tourney and it would be hard to pick an outstanding performer. But a press box poll favored Johnny Recco, and Noel Roberts, Garden City first baseman and catcher, as the best ever in any tournament played under the EIWA auspices.

Jeff Dickson Reported Killed

NEW YORK, June 13 (INS)—Jefferson Davis Dickson, Jr., who went from Natchez, Miss., to Paris, and established himself as the No. 1 sports promoter of Europe, has been killed in action while serving as a captain in the U. S. Army, it was disclosed today.

Capt. Dickson had been stationed in England as a bombing squadron intelligence officer and was lost in a flight near Paris last July. At that time he was reported missing, but yesterday the War Department listed him as killed in action.

Walker's Works On Exhibit

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Artist Edward P. Walker, the same Mickey Walker who once wielded a wicked touch on the boxing canvas, has exhibited his first important painting since he retired from the ring a few years back to make passes at an easel. Walker's "Christmas Masquerade"—depicting a youngster dressed as Santa Claus visiting a rural home—is among a collection submitted by 32 ranking artists currently on display by the Chicago No-Jury Society of Artists which is sponsoring the event.

The offering of the former welter and middleweight champion, described by exhibit officials as "an inspiration to children," bears a $1500 price tag, tops in the collection.

Walker, who trimmed such battles as Johnny Risko, Ace Hudkins, Tiger Flowers, Mike Tigue, Paul Berlenbach and Jack Britton during a 16-year campaign which ended in 1935, isn't here for his artistic debut.

Along with Jockey Earl Sande and other members of an U. S. O. outfit, Mickey is preparing to entertain overseas soon.

De Mar to Compete In Holy Name Race

Clarence De Mar of Reading, dean of American marathoners, makes his initial appearance of the 1944 road racing season in the Holy Name A. A. "Race of Champions" at West Roxbury on Saturday, June 24.

This race, which is one of the features of "Carnival Time" in West Roxbury program, brings out the cream of the long distance runners. Entries received already include Johnny Kelley, Clayton Farrar and Fred McGloin.

15-Year Old Kid Gets Big League Baptism

By PAUL B. MASON

CINCINNATI, June 12 (AP)—Joe Nuxhall who, at 15, tells you seriously that "I've been playing baseball ever since I was a kid," dropped his six-foot, 195-pound frame into a chair and fingered the Cincinnati Reds' emblem on his uniform shirt.

"Yep," he grinned, "I'm lucky. Never thought that at 15 I'd be pitching in the big time. Guess lots of kids would like to do that." Joe, pride of nearby Hamilton, O., and youngest player ever signed in the major leagues, pitched two-thirds of a nightmare inning in a game Saturday that made history-of-sorts for the Reds, an 18-0 rout by the St. Louis Cards, worst National League shutout since 1906.

He gave up five passes, two singles and a wild pitch good for the Cards' final five runs, in a debut only 48 hours after graduation from junior high school.

The best of the Cards' batting order was coming up when Joe went in.

"I was nervous," he said. "Sure, I had watched 'em as they came to bat, thinking I ought to know their weakness. But I sure never expected Mr. McKechnie (Bill McKechnie, manager) to call on me, gee!"

JUST A BIT NERVOUS

And Joe's grin widened. "You did all right, too," boomed big and jovial Warren Giles, Reds' general manager. "All right until Stan Musial came to bat."

Here's how Joe's "big inning" had gone:

His initial pitch to George Fallon, first up, was a clean strike. Fallon carried the lanky porter to a 3-2 count, then rolled out. Mort Cooper swung at his first pitch, let three balls pass and whiffed at another before drawing ball 4. Augie Bergamo struck at two, then Joe uncorked a wild pitch that sent Cooper to second. Bergamo fouled two, then flied. Deb Garms drew three balls, two strikes and walked. Then Musial singled.

"Guess then is when I was really nervous," Joe said. "Things weren't going right. I walked the next three men. . . I don't know who they were."

"Y' see, sir," he apologized. "I don't know all their names, yet."

For the record they were Ray Sanders, Walker Cooper and Danny Litwhiler. And after that, Emil Verban singled to end Joe's trial.

Orlando Fails To Face Court

DETROIT, June 12 (AP)—Action in the case of James Orlando, former Detroit Red Wings hockey player, convicted on a charge of violating the selective service act, was put over for another week in federal court today when Orlando did not appear.

A sentence of two years' imprisonment recently was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, but while the appeal was pending Orlando, at liberty under bond, enlisted in Canadian army.

His attorney told Federal Judge Edward J. Moiney today that he still hoped to have Orlando sent back here by Canadian army authorities.

Navy Yard Team Needs Few Jobs

Now that first place is settled beyond doubt, for a few days at least, the scramble for second place is becoming tougher by the day as three of the Park League teams are shooting for that position.

The Navy Yard is second right at the minute but Watertown Arsenal is only a game and a half off the pace and right behind the Arsenal is the Linehan Club, which has been improving by the day.

The Navy is deep in the doldrums at the minute having lost to the West Roxbury team last night, and the two meet again tonight. Another victory for West Roxbury and victories for the Arsenal and Linehans, although the former will have its hands full beating Casey, will make a mighty arm around second place and if Lawley's best Trailways things will be that much more interesting.

Sox Pay $20,000 For School Phenom

Another Red Sox secret was exposed this morning when Associated Press despatches from New Orleans revealed the fact that Dick Callahan, widely sought schoolboy hurler of no-hit fame, had been signed by the Boston club and already had been assigned to the Louisville farm.

George Toporcer, head of the Red Sox farm system, completed the deal and, it is understood, paid young Callahan a bonus of $20,000 for signing a contract, one of the largest ever handed an unproved kid.

Callahan, a 19-year-old medical dischargee from the Navy because of a bad knee, pitched two no-hit games within six days for the Holy Cross Prep team of New Orleans this last spring. He hurled 26 consecutive scoreless innings in this streak. Young Dick is being graduated this month with a string of 17 consecutive victories.

The Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox have been on Callahan's trail for some time but "Smiling Dick" liked the looks of that $20,000 bonus check. Toporcer waived at him.

$1000 REWARD

In War Bonds will be paid by the Record-American for exclusive information leading to the safe recovery of 10-year-old Frances McGrath, whom police suspect was kidnapped.

The daughter of ex-Boston Councilor John J. McGrath was wearing a chartreuse-colored suit, a close-fitting brown "beanie" hat with a feather in it, a ribbon under her chin, brown gloves, a white blouse, "loafer" slippers, brown socks and carried a brown cloth purse with a wooden top, when last seen in Scituate.

Frances is about three feet 10 inches tall, weighs between 80 and 85 pounds, has deep blue eyes, freckles, dimples and wears her hair in pig-tails. She is compactly built, and looks a little older than her 10 years. Call City Editor, Liberty 4000.

Liberated

A crowd of more than 60,000 gathers in the square before St. Peter's, following the liberation of the Italian capital, and receive the blessing of Pope Pius XII, who appeared on the balcony of the basilica.

Recruits

On their way to Camp Lejeune, N.C., for boot training as members of the Marine Reserve Corps, 59 New England young women recruits, 30 from Greater Boston, pose at the Federal Building today.
